Letters to the Editor

Reinstating the Pledge

We would like to express our appreciation to our new high school principal Paul Waller and all the teachers who supported him for reinstating the tradition of our students saying the Pledge of Allegiance at the beginning of the school day.

Jim and Kris Horlacher

My name is Adrienne Lorton and I was a graduate of the Oakwood class of 1999. Our classmate and homecoming queen just recently began a fundraising campaign for her son, who underwent a liver transplant this year. The medical costs were extreme. She just recently sent all of her facebook friends a message:

Jonah celebrates 1st birthday

It has been quite a year of adjusting to motherhood, but a blessing no doubt. It has also has been the most incredibly challenging and terrifying year of my life. Jonah was diagnosed with end-stage liver disease when he was just 4 months old and we were told he would need a liver transplant in order to survive. There are no words to even begin to express how I felt after hearing such terrifying news. After three weeks of being listed, we got a call that they had the perfect liver for Jonah. On June 26, 2009 when he was just six months old Jonah underwent a life-saving liver transplant. He is recovering well, but is still a medically fragile little baby.

Thank you so much for taking the time to read this letter and words can not express how much Jonah and I appreciate your help!

Much love and smiles,
Ellen Mays (and Jonah)

Ellen is a brilliant and amazing person who has done much throughout her life to help others. She is unfailingly kind, and gracious to all who cross her path. She was, most recently, a human rights graduate student at Columbia.

She has done much to make her community a better place, and I wanted to let the readers of the Oakwood Register know. Contributions can be made at: <http://cota.donorpages.com/PatientOnlineDonation/COTAforJonahM/>
